

2012 CLYLP INTERNS

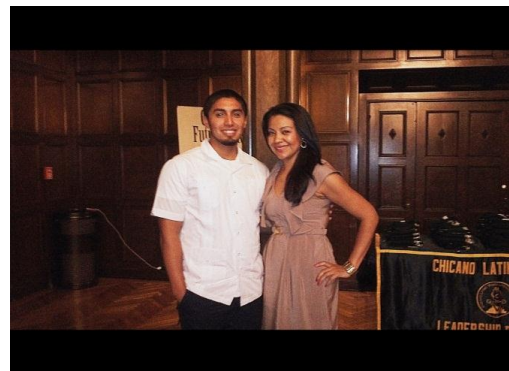

Fabiola Avina
Anthropology
University of Southern California
CLYLP Sacramento Leadership Conference 2009

"It is a great experience to work with the Board of Directors directly on the things they have to do. You will also have the opportunity to meet and network with people who are passionate in helping develop the leaders of tomorrow, and are simply great people to know."

Fabiola Avina joined the program in 2012 to gain insight on what took place during conferences and as a way to assist in helping develop California's future leaders. She assisted on various projects such as composing and sending letters to potential sponsors and elected officials in the Latino Legislative Caucus, contacting students when they were accepted to the conferences, became part of the banquet and transportation committees and assisted at the Los Angeles Area Fundraiser event. Her favorite project was contacting students when they were accepted to the conferences as she was able to deliver the great news to so many students and hear the excitement in their voices.

Ryan Munoz
Sociology & Chicano Studies
University of California, Santa Barbara
CLYLP Los Angeles Institute 2009

"I encourage Alumni to apply because of two reasons: The first because it is a great resume booster and secondly above all else it is a way to help become that influence and inspiration for future brothers and sisters of the CLYLP Familia."

Ryan Munoz joined the program in 2012 as a way to gain experience in what it takes to run an effective organization. He felt that it would not only benefit him in terms of resources and knowledge but he felt that he could contribute to the Familia that has and continues to provide support for him in all that he does. His work consisted of data entry, research for projects pertaining to the CLYLP website, generating proposals, revising and editing press releases, calling applicants, assisting in generating the alumni profile page and the new intern profile page. His favorite project to work on were the two profile pages as it was something he was given charge of from start to finish

Aurelia Ortiz
Political Science and International Studies
American University
CLYLP Sacramento Leadership Conference 2007

"You get to interact with many great people on the board; you have your chance to give back and continue to be a part of this amazing Familia!"

Aurelia Ortiz joined the program in 2012 because of the past experiences she has had with CLYLP. It has been a journey of discovery as she is now a great advocate for Latino youth empowerment. She worked on projects such as checking emails for both the President and the scholarship committee, generating invoices, retrieving quotes for various projects, transportation logistics, worked extensively with the database, and made numerous phone calls. Her favorite project was calling the students to inform them that they had been accepted to Sacramento Leadership conference. It was a great experience not only for the student but the entire family and she took great pleasure in being the one to relay that information.
